Isaiah Marshall Foundation Hosts Men's Health Community Awareness Day: Prioritizing Wellness and Early Detection

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

April 7, 2025

Baton Rouge, LA – The Isaiah Marshall Foundation is proud to announce its inaugural Men's Health Community Awareness Day, a vital initiative dedicated to empowering men to prioritize their health. This event will take place on May 24, 2025 from 11am - 2pm at Baton Rouge Primary Care Collaborative, 7050 Plank Road, Baton Rouge, LA 70811.

Founded in 2025 by prostate cancer survivor, Isaiah Marshall, the foundation aims to address the often-overlooked health needs of men, particularly in underserved communities where access to healthcare and education is limited. This event is a personal mission for Mr. Marshall, driven by his own journey and a desire to ensure other men have the resources and support they need for proactive health management.

"Men's health is not just a personal issue; it's a community imperative," says Isaiah Marshall, founder of the Isaiah Marshall Foundation. "We're hosting this event to break down barriers, provide critical health screenings, and empower men to take control of their wellness. Early detection and preventive care are essential, and we want to ensure that every man has the opportunity to prioritize his health."

The Men's Health Community Awareness Day will offer a comprehensive range of services and resources, including:

- Free Health Screenings:
 - Prostate cancer screenings
 - Diabetes screenings
 - Hypertension screenings
 - Cholesterol screenings
- Community Education Programs:
 - Access to vital health and wellness resources
 - Opportunities to engage in direct conversations with medical professionals

This event is a call to action for men of all ages to proactively engage in their health. Attendees will have the opportunity to receive free screenings, gain valuable health insights, and connect with healthcare providers. The Isaiah Marshall Foundation believes that knowledge and access to care are fundamental rights, and this event is a crucial step in bridging the healthcare gap.
